Very Reverend and dear Monsignor:

On this joyous occasion of the Silver Jubilee of St. Jude's Parish, Fort Wayne, it affords me genuine pleasure to inform you that our Most Holy Father, Pope Pius XII, has graciously deigned to impart his special Apostolic Benediction.

This Benediction is granted by His Holiness as a token of his paternal affection and as a pledge of divine favor for the future upon the ministry of the Word and the Sacraments of Christ in St. Jude's Parish, which has already been endowed with twenty-five years of His graces and blessings.

It is the express wish of the Sovereign Pontiff that this Blessing be shared by the clergy, religious and laity of the Parish, as well as by everyone who joins with you in celebrating this memorable Anniversary.

To this August Message of the Vicar of Christ I add my own personal congratulations and good wishes.

With sentiments of esteem and renewed felicitations, I remain

Sincerely yours in Christ,

ARCHBISHOP JOHN FRANCIS NOLL

The Catholic people of northeast Fort Wayne are deeply grateful to Archbishop Noll for the valuable counsel and assistance given them in connection with the establishment of the Parish of St. Jude the Apostle. In the celebration of its Silver Jubilee, their joy is mixed with pride that they have had a part in the great expansion of the Church in this diocese; that in the building of a new parish they were privileged to participate in the magnificent accomplishments of the long and glorious episcopate of the beloved Archbishop —Bishop of Fort Wayne.

History of St. Jude Parish

As early as 1924 a survey was made in the northeast district of Fort Wayne to determine the practicality of establishing a new parish in that section of the city. The steadily increasing number of Catholic people locating in the area pointed toward the eventual necessity of closer church and school facilities. That His Excellency, the late Bishop Herman J. Aldering, already foresaw this need was manifest in his purchase, more than fifty years ago, of a half block on Kentucky Avenue for such purposes. However, later developments farther east and north led to the abandonment of the plan to build on Kentucky Avenue in favor of another site yet to be acquired.

The years 1925 and 1926 witnessed a growing interest in a new parish on the part of the numerous Catholic residents now living in the northeast additions to the city. Several meetings were held during this period, but the movement received its greatest impetus at a gathering in the spring of 1926 in the auditorium of the Forest Park school. Attended by Bishop Noll and a great majority of the people concerned, His Excellency, following a general discussion of the subject and an assurance by the people of a willingness to assume the burdens which would devolve upon them, authorized the formation of a new parish. The late Carl J. Weber headed the site committee. On May 7, 1926 five acres of land were purchased from Henry F. F. Kruse and the Randall estate, part of the original Randall farm. This acreage constitutes the present St. Jude Parish Square bounded by State Blvd., Randalia Drive, Forest Avenue and Pemberton Drive. Shortly afterward an additional five acres to the west and south were bought with a view to realizing enough through their resale in lots to pay the cost of the church site. Due to the economic depression soon to follow, these lots, however, were not finally disposed of until many years later.

The year 1927 was one of preparation and planning and solicitation of funds to meet, at least to a degree, the heavy financial obligations to be incurred. The Bishop placed this program in the hands of the Rev. Thomas M. Conroy, Rector of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, and it was upon his recommendation that the new parish was dedicated to the Forgotten Apostle St. Jude. Designed by Architect Guy Mahurin, the school building was erected by the Sheets Construction Company at an approximate cost of $125,000.00. Actual work was begun in May, 1928. Hence, by reason of the unity, singleness of purpose and ardent cooperation of prospective parishioners a beautiful structure, with Chapel in the lower southwest wing, became a reality. On March 3, 1929, Bishop Noll, assisted by local priests, dedicated the building, with a large number of the laity in attendance. On the following day, March 4, the doors of the school were opened to 105 children. The first four grades were taught by the Sisters of Providence who resided at St. Augustine Academy. Volunteers conveyed the Sisters to and from the school. Sister Marie Louise taught the 3d and 4th grades, Sister Dolores Marie the 2d, Sister Mary Grace the first grade.

The parish was formally established as such on April 12, 1929, with the appointment by Bishop Noll of the Rev. John A. Dapp as its first pastor. Upon the arrival of Father Dapp, work was started on the altar and pews, preparing the chapel for divine services. On Sunday, April 21, Holy Mass was offered for the first time. There were two Masses, one at 7 and another at 9. Frank Wemhoff, Jr., and Thomas Carroll, Jr., served at the 7 o'clock Mass, John Stinerock and Robert Lee at the 9. At 7:30 in the evening of this same Sunday, a Novena in honor of St. Jude, the Patron of the Parish, was begun. The attendance throughout the nine days was inspiring. By evening of the 21st of April, practically all the furnishings for the chapel were donated by members of the parish, the Cathedral parish and by other friends. On May 6th, Father Dapp, who from the day of his arrival in Fort Wayne on April 12 had resided at the Catholic Community Center, took up his residence at 209 Jacobs Avenue.

On May 26th, 32 boys and girls received their first Holy Communion. The attendance at the first card party on May 27 taxed the capacity of the assembly room and the entire first floor of the school. On June 21 the first picnic was held on the church grounds. Al Zickgraf was general chairman of this very successful event which was concluded in the evening with a fine display of fireworks. During July and August of 1929 a campaign was carried on for the construction of a rectory on the northwest corner of Pemberton Drive and Forest Avenue. The general contract was let to Ankenbruck and Son for $13,500.00. Ground was broken on the 12th of August. With the opening of school in September the eight grades were taught. 293 pupils were enrolled, and five Sisters comprised the teaching staff, with Sister Eileen Therese the first Superior. In November another school room was equipped, and the sixth teacher added. The limited capacity of the chapel now made additional Sunday Masses necessary. On September 15, four Masses were begun, a Capuchin Father from St. Felix Monastery at Huntington assisting on Saturdays and Sundays. The past summer also saw the formation of an Ushers' Organization, with Frank J. Wemhoff as Captain.

On October 6, the Rosary Sodality was canonically erected with a membership of 222. Msgr. Charles H. Thiele preached the sermon for the occasion. First officers elected were: President, Mrs. Mary Foohey; Vice-president, Mrs. John Woulfe; Secretary, Mrs. J. Donald O'Brien; Treasurer, Mrs. John Hilker, Sr.

On October 13, the Holy Name Society was organized with a membership of 177. Father Thomas M. Conroy preached the sermon. First officers elected were: President, Matthew C. Drennan; Vice-president, Carl J. Weber; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Edward C. McBride; Financial Secretary, Clem J. Mettler; Treasurer, Henry G. Allgeier.

On November 17, the Blessed Virgin Sodality was established with a membership of 65. Rev. George Hasser preached the sermon. First officers elected were: President, Agnes Foohey; Vice-president, Irma Hartman; Secretary, Margaret Deppen; Treasurer, Mildred Kinstle.

On October 28, the patronal feast of the parish, Rev. M. J. Chapman preached the sermon for the closing of a Novena in honor of St. Jude.

During the month of December a male choir was organized which sang for the first time on Christmas Day. Original members of the choir were: Carl J. Weber, Fred Potthoff, William Meyers, James Foohey, Martin Draths, Jr., George Jaeger, Lawrence Ankenbruck, Fred Parnin, Charles Bilskie, Clem Didier, Henry Ueher, John Hilker, Sr., John Deppen, Sr., Steven Reed, Hubert Berghoff, Henry Rager, Alfred Brown. Carl J. Weber was its first director. Miss Agnes Foohey, who had been playing the organ on week days since April, continued as organist until February of the following year when her sister, Florence, succeeded her.

In January 1930, the first parish trustees were chosen: Bernard Schele, Carl J. Weber, A. C. Birkmeier, Thomas F. Carroll, John A. Berghoff. From February 16 to March 2, a two weeks' Mission was conducted by two Capuchin Fathers, the Rev. Gilbert Heuel, O. M. Cap. and the Rev. Fabian Fetha, O.M. Cap. Father Dapp moved into the new rectory which had been completed by this time. On March 3d the school Sisters moved into their apartment which had been arranged for them in the south portion of the second floor of the school building. For cooking and dining, the parish kitchen in the basement was made available to them.

On May 12, 1930 Bishop Noll confirmed the first class of 108 children and 14 adults. His Excellency described the Confirmation service as "very interesting" —what with the chapel filled beyond capacity, a large crowd in the rear hall, both sides of the chapel lined with parishioners on the outside looking in through the open windows, and some boys finding even the window sills a suitable seat.

On June 16, the first class to graduate from St. Jude school held its exercises in the Catholic Community Center auditorium. It numbered 11 boys and 11 girls: James Deitschel, John Garvin, Francis Gibson, Fred Larson, Edward Moeller, Richard Parrot, John Pequignot, Joseph Reed, Henry Reichle, John Shovlin, Victor Springel, Mary C. Bresnahan, Wanda Carl, Muriel Gillie, Mary C. Griffith, Geraldine Harmeyer, Gertrude Kasimier, Mildred Kalhoff, Noreen Koehl, Mary Ellen Mettler, Rosemary Nagelson, Ida Marie Rager. In his address that evening Father Dapp stated, "I say, without fear of contradiction, that this is the best class ever graduated from St. Jude school—but it is the first one." On September 8, school reopened with 305 pupils. There were now seven rooms, another having been furnished during the summer. Sister Marie Aloysius was Superior, with a staff of seven teachers.

The growth of the parish now required the services of a second priest, and on June 26, 1931 Bishop Noll appointed the Rev. Clement S. Ewald, newly ordained, as regular assistant to the parish. In the summer of this year, extensive improvements were made on the school grounds. Concrete walks were built, landscaping and planting were done, all at a cost of about $3,000.00. This was a gift to the parish by William Spaulding, a parishioner and convert to the Church. He engaged Argel L. Pion, a gradnate in Landscaping Engineering, to supervise the work.

On September 18, 19, 20, the Rev. John A. Bapst, pastor of St. Joseph Church at Bluffton, conducted the first, and largely attended, Forty Hours Devotion. In the fall, Carl J. Weber was forced by failing health to relinquish his duties as director of the choir. He was succeeded by Fred Potthoff, an original member of the group.

1932 was uneventful, parishwise, except for the death of Trustee Carl J. Weber, charter member and pioneer worker in the formation of the parish. But it was a year of anxiety, and hope for recovery from the economic depression which had fastened itself upon the country. Charles J. Michel was selected to succeed Carl Weber as trustee, and Bert Fagan to replace on the Board John A. Berkhoff who had moved away.

On the 19th of January, 1933, the St. John Berchman's Society for Altar-boys was organized for the purpose of promoting and instructing worthy boys of the parish for the privilege of assisting at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and other divine services. The vacancy in the number of trustees, caused by the moving of Bernard Schele, was filled by John Dehner. It had become apparent that the increasing school enrollment would necessitate the opening of another class room by fall. So in September the eighth room and the eighth teacher were provided. In December John Dehner presented the parish with a church bell in honor of his parents and grandparents. It was hung in the south tower of the school, and rung the first time for the Angelus on Christmas Eve. An interesting sidelight in connection with this bell, originally costing $1500.00, is that it was first donated, in 1870, by the grandfather of John Dehner to St. Anthony Church at Dehner, Indiana, near Fowler. When that parish, many years later, was discontinued and the church razed, the bell was acquired by the John Dehner family. In this year nearly the entire indebtedness of the parish had to be refinanced. A new bond issue was floated, and, thanks to God, it was completely sold by the end of the year.

During the summer of 1934, after five strenous years, Father Dapp enjoyed a well earned vacation by way of a trip abroad. Upon his return the pastor discovered that, under the direction of Father Ewald, the interior of the rectory had been entirely redecorated, and the cost thereof defrayed by voluntary contributions of parishioners. The fall of 1934 saw the birth of the Catholic Youth Organization in Fort Wayne. Formation of a parish unit along the lines of this movement was begun and carried over into 1935. Sister Catherine Mary came in September as Superior of the school. In December a most welcome change was effected, serving the convenience of the Sisters, in that a kitchen and dining room were provided them in connection with their apartment on the second floor of the school building. Economic conditions were improving slowly—reluctantly the depression was losing its grip upon the nation.

The year 1935 is memorable in the annals of the history of St. Jude Church. It marked the end of one era and the beginning of another. The parish had grown rapidly. With a school enrollment of 345 children, the inadequacy of the chapel, seating only 260, made immediate consideration of larger church quarters imperative. This matter was first discussed at length at the January meeting of the trustees. The large parish indebtedness, however, and the none too favorable economic conditions, ruled out the possibility of erecting a separate church unit as originally contemplated. The building of a church to the east of, and adjoining, the present school, with entrances on Randalia Drive, seemed a practical solution. On April 29, upon submission of the proposed plan to the more than 200 parishioners attending a mass meeting, the construction of the new church was overwhemingly approved. And with the parish pledge to raise half the cost, the Bishop's permission to proceed was readily obtained. Nearly $5,000.00 had accumulated in the building fund started two years previous. A canvass of the parish during May netted cash and subscriptions amounting to $13,595.00. The parish trustees were asked at the mass meeting to act as the building committee. A. M. Strauss was retained as architect. In June the general contract was let to Shinnerer & Truemper for $30,453.00; the plumbing and heating to Schwegman-Witte for $5,134.00, and the electrical contract to the Henry Electric Company for $758.00. On July 1 ground was broken for the new church. To conform with the school building, it is of beautiful Spanish architecture in exterior design as well as interior appointments, with a seating capacity of 750. The altar from the former chapel was installed in a niche of its own, with the statue of St. Jude over it, constituting a shrine to St. Jude. Thus the devotional atmosphere of the original chapel was carried over into the new church, and St. Jude, the forgotten Apostle for so long, receives the recognition and veneration due one of the great Apostles of Jesus Christ. A spacious basement auditorium, with stage and excellent kitchen facilities, now adequately served the social needs of the parish.

On Thanksgiving Day, November 28, 1935, the new church was dedicated by Bishop Noll, with many priests and a great number of parishioners in attendance. A procession to the church by the clergy and the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus in full regalia, as a guard of honor to His Excellency, enhanced the solemnity of the dedicatory program. Father Dapp was celebrant of the Mass, Father John A. Bapst, deacon, Father H. J. Miller, sub-deacon, and Father Ewald, master of ceremonies. The Bishop delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion. Following the Mass, a dinner was served the attending clergy in the auditorium by the ladies of the Rosary Society. It was the end of a perfect day. The generous contributions in time and money toward the erection of the new church, and the numerous gifts of furnishings and equipment by parishioners and friends, stand as a splendid commentary on the spirit and character of a people which built a House of God.

And so a new chapter begins in the life of the parish. Space will not permit a detailed account of its activities from the time of the dedication of the new church to the present day, but a review of the main incidents of the intervening years will graphically illustrate the needs, the progress, and the ambitions of a growing parish.

The customary routine, spiritual and social, obtained during the year 1936. The new church and auditorium seemed sufficiently large for any and all events. At Christmas the male choir was augmented by ladies of the parish for the singing of the Christmas carols. They were: Sopranos—Mrs. Edward Morken, Mrs. Fred Potthoff, Mrs. William McDonald, Eileen O'Brien; Altos—Mrs. John Hilker, Sr., Mrs. George Geerken, Aletha Foohey.

On June 16, 1937, Rev. Clement Ewald who had served as assistant pastor since June 26, 1931, was transferred as first assistant to St. Mary's Church, Lafayette, Indiana. A "going away purse" was presented to him by the parish. The Rev. Aloysius Phillips, newly ordained, was appointed assistant to succeed Father Ewald. In September, Mrs. Florence Foohey Evard, faithful and efficient organist for the past seven years without remuneration, asked to be relieved and was succeeded by Miss Frieda Winegart. In the fall of this year the addition to the rectory of a second public office room, a sorely needed improvement, was made without cost to the parish by John Dehner.

On May 3, 1938 Confirmation was administered by Bishop Noll. The following day the pastor left for New York enroute to the International Eucharistic Congress at Budapest, Hungary. There he read a paper by Bishop Noll, who, unable to go to Budapest, had gone to Rome instead.. Paid for principally by a number of large donations, padded kneelers were installed in the church for Christmas. On the Feast of the Nativity, the boys' choir, trained by Father Phillips, and the male choir combined to sing in an inspiring fashion the Christmas carols and Mass.

The year 1939 stands out significantly in that it witnessed the ordination of the Rev. William Voors, the first son of the parish to enter the Holy Priesthood. On June 4 Father Voors celebrated his First Solemn Mass, followed by a public reception in the auditorium. The year also marked the outbreak of war in Europe, with resultant increase of world tension.

1939 hurried on to 1940 when on June 28 Rev. Joseph A. Jacobs, newly ordained, was appointed assistant pastor to succeed Father Aloysius Phillips, transferred to St. Joseph's Church, Hammond, Indiana. School opening was delayed two weeks in September by an epidemic of infantile paralysis. None of our children was afflicted, but Carl Pequignot an adult member, was fatally stricken.

At a meeting of the parish trustees in January, 1941, it was decided that plans and specifications be prepared for the construction of a Sisters' convent. Examination of the bids received by midsummer revealed the cost prohibitive, which coupled to the uncertainity of procuring suitable materials, due to world conditions, led to a postponement of building operations. In September a new Superior, Sister Catherine Angela, took charge of the school. The United States entered World War II in December of this year. By the end of 1942 more than 60 of our boys were in military service. Our country was now on an all-out war economy, with temporal prosperity at a new high. But with it came many restrictions. The summer picnics and fall festivals, sponsored annually by the United Parish Societies, gave way to "cash picnics and festivals" with excellent results.

In the Spring of 1943 Father Dapp underwent an appendectomy, returning home on Holy Saturday after more than four weeks' confinement at St. Joseph's Hospital. During the pastor's absence, Father Jacobs, who had preached all the Lenten sermons, carried on capably with assistance from the C.C.H.S. Staff Fathers: Paul J. Schmid, Anthony Suelzer and Michael Vichuras. Cornelius Erpelding, building custodian for a number of years, who on July 1 left to go with the Farnsworth Company, was succeeded by Brice Parnin in that capacity. At the September meeting of the trustees, Edward J. Schulte, Cincinnati architect, was engaged to draw up plans for a convent and rectory to be built after the war. These structures, along with a new church, would form an integrated parish plant.

On January 1, 1944 Leo Masbaum became building custodian, replacing Brice Parnin. During the spring of this year, the 15th anniversary of the establishment of the parish, the interior of the church was painted by the Fort Wayne Decorating Company at a cost of $1400.00. On June 4, the Rev. Fred Potthoff, Jr., a son of the parish, celebrated his First Solemn Mass. Reception took place in the afternoon. October saw the organization of the St. Vincent de Paul Conference with the following active members: Roy Grimmer, Sr., President; Arthur Herber, Secretary; Frank R. Bookmyer, Treasurer; Leo Masbaum, Joseph Grable, Albert M. Poinsatte, Jerome J. Klingenberger.

On February 4, 1945 Rev. John Witte, the third from the parish to become a priest, celebrated his First Solemn Mass. Reception was held in the afternoon. On July 15, Professor Louis W. Peil began his duties as Organist and Choirmaster. On September 9th of this year, St. Jude Church was the scene of the investiture, by His Excellency Most Rev. John Francis Noll, of the pastor, Father Dapp, in the robes of a Domestic Prelate, with the title "Right Reverend Monsignor." Msgr. Michael J. Aichinger preached the sermon. Following the solemn services a dinner was served in the auditorium honoring Msgr. Dapp, and attended by Bishop Noll, Monsignori, relatives and clergy. With the passing of this year came the end of the war. On the nights of the armistices of the European and Asiatic conflicts, the church was crowded with parishioners giving thanks to God that peace, at last, should reign again. A hushed, reverential atmosphere pervaded these epochal days—days of suppressed joy, of earnest contemplation, and withal a time of compassion for the families of the ten young men of the parish who had laid down their lives for God and country. The sublime and comforting words of Abraham Lincoln addressed to a mother who had lost her sons in the Civil War, apply with equal validity to these parents and relatives bereaved by the casualties of World War II:

> "But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

We approached 1946 hopeful and confident, oblivious of the role destiny plays in the affairs of men. The parish was in the middle of an upsurge in membership and school enrollment, but construction priorities again delayed the start of the post-war building program. In the midst of preparations for the Fall Festival, public announcement was made of the transfer, as of November 13, 1946, of our beloved pastor to the rectorship of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception to succeed the then lately deceased Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas M. Conroy. The loss of Msgr. Dapp was keenly felt. No easy task confronted him when on April 12, 1929 he assumed his new and manifold responsibilities. Organizer of the parish, builder of the church and rectory, Msgr. Dapp exemplified throughout the nearly 18 arduous years of his pastorate, an executive capacity matching the spiritual fervor characteristic of his priestly ministrations. Nowhere was the responsiveness of the faithful to his inspiring leadership more clearly demonstrated than in the complete liquidation, during difficult years, of the well-nigh crushing parish indebtedness of $150,000., and the subsequent accumulation of approximately $160,000.00 in cash assets. At a large gathering of parishioners in the auditorium on the eve of his departure, Msgr. Dapp was presented with a gift as a tangible expression of the love and esteem in which he was held by a people grateful for his long and unselfish devotion to its welfare.

And so it was "Farewell" to Msgr. Dapp, first pastor of St. Jude's, and "Welcome" to the Rev. Charles F. Girardot appointed by the Bishop to succeed him. A very successful Fall Festival marked, as it were, the introduction of the new pastor, in a social way, to the people of his new charge. On December 1, a third weekday Mass was begun, with the Rev. John Frawley of the C.C.H.S. staff as celebrant. At Christmas the Solemn Midnight Mass was celebrated by Father Girardot. Other devotions, dating from the beginning of the parish such as the weekly Eucharistic Holy Hour, Novenas in honor of our patron St. Jude preceding the patronal feast on October 28 and the anniversaries of the establishment of the parish on April 12, were to be continued uninterruptedly.

May 4, 1947 was First Communion Sunday for 49 children, and on September 21 to 23 the annual Forty Hours took place. A two weeks' Mission was conducted from October 5 to 19 by two Precious Blood missionaries. Apace with an ever growing membership, an extra Mass was added to the Sunday schedule. They were now at 6, 8, 9, 10, and 11. Rev. Francis Pitka, O.S.C. from Sacred Heart Seminary assisted on week ends. The year receded into history with the sponsorship by the United Societies of the annual Fall Festival.

On February 8, 1948 the Holy Name Society conducted the usual Pre-lenten Frolic. Walter Berghoff, parish trustee, died February 23, and A. G. Keller was appointed to finish the unexpired term. New lights were installed in the church, and on May 2d, 64 children received their First Holy Communion. May procession took place in the afternoon. The school building was painted during the summer, preparatory to the opening of the fall term. On Sunday, May 21, Rev. Ralph Larson, the fourth son of the parish to enter the Holy Priesthood, celebrated his First Solemn Mass, followed by reception in the auditorium. The Forty Hours Devotion and the annual Fall Festival were held as usual. On November 16, urged by the necessity of additional class rooms in the school, the residence at 1903 Kensington Blvd. was bought for a Sisters' convent. Purchase price was $27,500.00 including some furniture. On December 11 the Sisters vacated their apartment in the school building and moved into their new home.

During January, February and March of 1949, the walls of the church were washed, the ceiling woodwork varnished, and the kneelers of pews recovered. On Sunday afternoon, February 20, the sacrament of Confirmation was conferred by Bishop Noll upon 170 children, and on May 1st 67 children made their First Holy Communion. On June 1 commencement exercises were held in church. The traditional spiritual and social events occured during the course of the year. The outside of the convent was painted, as was the exterior of the rectory. In the fall a new tile roof was provided for the church at a cost of approximately $6,000.00.

New Years Day 1950 opened with a Midnight Mass, preceded by a Holy Hour from 11 to 12 o'clock. January 30 saw the addition of another Sister to the teaching staff, taking over part of the 2d and 3d grades. On March 15 the Statue of Our Lady of Fatima was carried in procession at an impressive church service. In June the Korean War began. Many of our boys were in military service. In July the Rev. Dennis Dennihan, newly ordained, was assigned by Bishop Noll as second assistant priest. During the summer the convent underwent a complete renovation which, with new furnishings and carpeting, cost about $1500.00. A major improvement of this year was the installation, at an outlay of $11,000.00, of a new oil-burning boiler for the heating of the church and school. Fall term of school opened September 6 with 10 Sisters teaching. On October 4, 1950 announcement was made of the great honor conferred upon our pastor by His Holiness Pope Pius XII, in the elevation of Father Girardot to the ranks of the Monsignori. It was a festive occasion when on Sunday afternoon, November 26, Msgr. Girardot was invested by His Excellency, Most Rev. John Francis Noll, in the robes of a Papal Chamberlain with the title "Very Reverend Monsignor." In the evening at a reception in the auditorium Msgr. Girardot received the congratulations of parishioners, together with a purse as a token of filial regard and appreciation of the admirable manner in which he had administered the affairs of the parish, spiritually and materially.

1951 was proclaimed a Holy Year throughout the world by His Holiness, Pope Pius XII. On January 25 another Sister arrived to take over part of the third grade. The teaching staff now numbered 11, including the music teacher. On February 4 a successful Prelenten Frolic was held. The May 6th First Communion class consisted of 72 children. On June 3 commencement exercises took place in the church for 54 graduates of St. Jude school. On August 16 the Sisters returned from their motherhouse, looking toward the opening of the fall term. Sister Trinita, who had taught the 8th grade for the past three years, became the new Superior succeeding Sr. Mary Carlotta. It is especially noteworthy that Sr. Carlotta, who had served with such distinction as Superior during the six-year term just completed, had already previously acted in that capacity during the years 1935 to 1940 inclusive. The new school year began with 582 children enrolled. September 16 to 18 again witnessed an outpouring of the parish making the solemn and impressive Forty Hours Devotion. During the fall new steps were constructed at the front of the church, and the old doors at its side entrance, as well as at the gymnasium and the Green Room, replaced with those of a modern type. Under the direction of Father Jacobs, a Visual Education program in the school was begun. On November 18 the sacrament of Confirmation was conferred upon 215 children by the Most Rev. Leo A. Pursley, the new Auxiliary Bishop of Fort Wayne. For the first time since the inception of the parish, the Fall Festical could not be sponsored for reasons extraneous to the parish. With the solemnity of the Christmas Midnight Mass another year drew to a close.

The New Year of 1952 started, literally, in a blaze—a fire at the Sisters' convent. On March 29 Roy Grimmer, Sr., parish trustee, died and was replaced on the board by William Parrot. During the summer the interior of the church was redecorated. The fall term began with an enrollment of 540 children. Beautiful new apricot-colored drapes for the main altar, Communion-rail and confessionals were installed for the Feast of St. Jude on October 28th. New carpet for the sanctuary was laid and ready for use on Thanksgiving Day. The Christmas Orphans' collection reached a new high of $3703.00.

The year 1953 was an eventful one. New ciboria were supplied the church and Sisters' chapel, and the latter further equipped with stole, surplice and Communion paten. On February 20 there occurred the canonical erection of the new Stations, with the Rev. Florentius Hoste, O.F.M., chaplain of St. Francis College, officiating. May 3 was First Communion Day for 69 children, followed by procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin in the afternoon. On the 19th of the month a successful May Festival was held. The ever-rising school enrollment, now nearing 600, posed a serious problem. And to meet the crisis, Msgr. Girardot engaged Architect A. M. Strauss to submit preliminary sketches covering a four-room addition to the school, with gymnasium, as well as a Sisters' convent. A building committee was appointed consisting of Dr. R. J. Berghoff, senior trustee, as chairman, John Delmer and Bert Dahm. On June 2, upon examination of the drawings by the committee, the permission of the Bishop was obtained to proceed with the building project, as also the purchase of the Schmid property on Randalia Drive adjoining that previously acquired from Mr. and Mrs. Connor. At the June 8th meeting of the Board of Trustees, the projected building program and the negotiations for the acquisition of the Schmid property were unanimously approved. Thereupon the architect was instructed to prepare definite plans and specifications. Following the opening of the bids on October 13, general contracts, exclusive of plumbing, heating and wiring, were awarded as follows: Max Irm-scher and Sons for the construction of the convent, $124,444.00; Weigand Construction Company for the school addition and gymnasium, $125,257.00. Plumbing and heating contract for both units went to Schwegman-Witte for $49,500.00, and the Electric Wiring to the Charles M. Henry Electric Company for $14,515.00 covering both buildings. On October 21, work was begun on the Sisters' convent, and October 28, the Feast of St. Jude, saw the start of construction of the school addition and gymnasium. During this year, too, a new north side entrance to the church, facilitating ingress from the paved parking lot, was built at a cost of $2600. Interwoven, of course, with the physical improvements in church and school, made or inaugurated during 1953, were the spiritual exercises and devotions traditional to the parish. With the fall opening of school, the enrollment reached the formidable figure of 616 pupils. The Green Room (former chapel), the last available space in the school building, had been converted to and equipped for class purposes. The staff, augmented again by the addition of another Sister, now numbered 12 including the music teacher. Sr. M. Trinita is serving ably for the third year as Superior of the school.

The approaching New Year quickens the realization that the Silver Jubilee of St. Jude's is nigh. April 12, 1954 marks the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the parish on April 12, 1929. Much of the spiritual, social and charitable life of the parish, not heretofore specifically—or only superficially—referred to, passes in review as we cast a retrospective glance across 25 glorious years. There are the Assistant Priests who figured so importantly in the various phases of parish work. Father Ewald's intense interest and cooperation in the Boy Scout movement presaged, as it were, on an even broader front, Father Jacob's enthusiastic application of a wide knowledge and experience in the field of sports to the training and development of the youth of the parish. And the Weekly Bulletin, ably edited by Father Jacobs, not only proved informative and instructive, but in its sparkling humor column enlivened many an otherwise dull moment.

Richly deserving of special recognition are the Sisters of Providence, comprising the faculty of the school throughout its life. The merits of the tireless labors of these valiant, selfless souls, reverberate down the corridor of time into eternity itself. They are the unsung heroines in the unfolding drama of St. Jude's. No worldly acclaim or material wealth is theirs, nor do they wish it. But in the enactment of the final scene, contemplating the host of boys and girls who came under their benign influence, each, with justifiable pride, will exclaim, "These are my jewels!" Highly complimentary to the Sisters of Providence, and indicative of the thoroughness of the education given pupils under their charge, were the spelling championships won by students of St. Jude school. The first, Frank Wemhoff, Jr., twice winner, in successive years, in county-wide competition of public and parochial schools; and later David Sorg, Rita Hasley, Tom Kovats, and Francis Colligan, winners in the "Spelling Bees" conducted under the sponsorship of the Knights of Columbus among the parochial schools of the city and vicinity. Then, too, as an adjunct to excellent scholastic training, a fine music department affords the opportunity for enlarged social and cultural attainments for pupils with an innate love and talent for "the universal language."

Of particular significance is the part played by the St. Jude's male choir over the years. Essential to the solemnity of the Church's external ceremonials, the members of this group find, through the singing of the praises of God, the spiritual stimulation of the faithful a rewarding experience.

We are not unmindful of the hundreds of boys and young men who served our priests as acolytes at the altar, often at night and in the early morning at the expense of personal comfort. May the memory of their intimate participation in divine services always be numbered among their fondest recollections.

To the regular, efficient and courteous performance of the duties encumbent upon the Ushers' Organization, can be ascribed the convenience of the parishioners at church attendance, as well as the good order evident at all times. Here it is felt appropriate to pay a word of tribute to the late Frank J. Wemhoff who, from the formation of the Ushers' Organization in 1929 to the time of his moving away in 1946, conscientiously and devotedly served the parish as "Captain of the Ushers." He was succeeded by Carl B. Wagner, the present Captain, who has continued, commendably, in the discharge of the responsibilities which this office imposes.

Worthy of commendation is the School Safety Patrol introduced at St. Jude's many years ago. That not a single fatality has occurred among our children within the operational sphere of the safety patrol, attests the vigilance exercised by the boys directing the juvenile pedestrian traffic at street intersections in the neighborhood of the school. We are grateful to the Fort Wayne Association of Insurance Agents for sponsoring this life-saving program in the schools of the city, and to the Traffic Division of the Fort Wayne Police Department for its enthusiastic cooperation in training and supervising the participants in this essential service.

Nor are we forgetful, or lacking in appreciation, of the many men and women of the parish who during the years gave freely of their time and energy to promote the moral and physical wellbeing of our children by assisting in such worthwhile activities as the athletic programs and the girl scout movement.

Of singular importance to the continuing progress of the parish was the unbroken succession of able and willing officers of the various church societies. The Universal Church functions through the agencies of its parishes which dot the earth. And it is almost axiomatic that a parish prospers in direct proportion to the effectiveness of the organizations that lie within it. While primarily spiritual in nature and purpose, yet the societies, under the leadership of the spiritual directors and officers, provide the medium through which material objectives are achieved. This truism found its exemplification here at St. Jude's throughout the past 25 years. In the cultivation of a greater acquaintanceship among the people, in the raising of substantial sums of money, in the practice of corporal works of mercy, we saw a wide variety of society-sponsored projects: the Fall Festivals, the Summer Picnics, the Pre-lenten Frolics, the Ice Cream Socials, the Lenten Mite Folders, War Relief Clothing Collections, Rummage Sales, May Festivals, Visitation and aid to the sick and needy, numerous Card and Bingo Parties, ad infinitum. And this reflection brings to mind those indomitable men and women who throughout the years, and especially during the formative period, worked so hard and so long to promote the welfare of the parish. But Time exacts, inexorably, its toll, and many, through death, incapacity, advancing years, have been lost to the ranks of active workers. May God's choicest blessings be theirs. To a vigorous, younger generation the torch is passed. The future of the parish is in its hands. Thus ends the story of St. Jude's from its inception to the celebration of its Silver Jubilee.

Epilogue

It will be observed that the school building still bears the inscription, "SHARON TERRACE," a beautiful name derived from the "Rose of Sharon" found growing profusely in a fertile section of the Holy Land along the Mediterranean Sea. It was chosen from among those submitted upon the invitation of Carl J. Weber, chairman of the original site committee. After some years, however, this name fell into disuse, yielding naturally to the more readily identifying title of "ST. JUDE SCHOOL."

Meditation

Prometheus, a hero of Greek Mythology, and celebrated as the benefactor of mankind, was chained to a rock by Zeus for stealing fire from heaven and bringing it to earth for the benefit of men. The legend represents Prometheus as a friend of the human race who did not shrink from opposing the evil designs of Zeus, and even from sacrificing himself for its salvation.

Today, as through the centuries, the Church established by Christ Himself, is the benefactor of mankind, and, as it were, steals the fire of divine love and mercy from heaven and brings it to earth for the salvation of men. But in various parts of the world, the Church is chained by the prototypes of Zeus with evil designs in their hearts. We, on the contrary, enjoy freedom of worship under the liberties guaranteed by the Constitution of our beloved country. Nowhere has the Church grown and prospered as in the United States. May the occasion of the SILVER JUBILEE of our parish incite a greater awareness of the priceless heritage of religious liberty wrought out of the heroic sacrifices of the forefathers of Church and State. Let us pray that, through the powerful intercession of St. Jude, patron of our parish, and the blessed and glorious Virgin Mary, special patroness of the United States, the incalculable blessing of religious liberty may ever be preserved against the insidious forces that would destroy it. We thank Thee, O Lord, that St. Jude Parish has basked in the sunshine of Thy favor during the past Quarter of a Century, and we pray a continuance of Thy graces and blessings in the years to come.

(THE END)

A Wonderous Thing Is a Parish

Looking up into the sky, one clear, cool evening, it seemed as if I could just reach up and touch the stars, and the wondrous dome of the heavens appeared to arch its way to the earth, just beyond arm's length, to the right of me and to the left of me. And as I stood there alone, with the limitless universe within my embrace, I was struck by the analogy of this natural phenomenon to another in the supernatural order, namely the Church of God, and how, within the narrow arc of our own parish, each one of us alone can reach up and touch the stars of the eternal truths in the boundless firmament of the Universal Church.

And that is what we are celebrating today: the Silver Jubilee of the bringing down, the localizing, the shrinking, as it were, of the global Church within the realm of the little world of our own, individual, lives. A WONDROUS THING IS A PARISH! Hence, this is a day of great joy, of jubilation, of thanksgiving, that a milestone has been reached in the extension of the Kingdom of God on earth.

The foregoing "History of St. Jude Parish" was written by A. G. Keller, senior member of the Board of Parish Trustees. That portion of the narrative covering the years up to the time of the dedication of the new Church on November 28, 1935, is a revision of the material found in the Souvenir Booklet issued in connection with that event.

St. Jude, The Apostle

St. Jude was one of the twelve Apostles chosen by Christ to teach, and rule His Church established upon the Rock of Peter.

St. Jude or Thaddeus as he is called to distinguish him from Judas Iscariot who betrayed our Lord, went out commissioned with all the sacred appointments that Our Lord thought necessary to form His Church. He labored successfully in the countries contiguous to the Holy Land in converting to the Church of Christ many amongst the peoples whom he visited. St. Jude, who was the brother of St. James the Less, wrote the brief Epistle that is one of the Books of the New Testament. The Epistle of St. Jude is written in one chaper of twenty-five verses, that contains an instruction to Christians to practice Charity in endeavoring to convert their neighbors. The Epistle ends with an exhortation to preserve the Faith and with praises of the Lord.

St. Jude is said to be the "patron of hopeless and desperate cases." Like the other Apostles he was of the Hebrew race, died for Christ who died for us all. His feast is set down in the Calendar of the Church for celebration on the 28th of October.

The devotion to St. Jude has become more and more popular, and in our day is practiced everywhere by those of the Faith. It has brought down from Heaven the graces of miracles of which all lands are the beneficiaries. Recourse to St. Jude when everything seems hopeless has worked wonders.

The first twenty-five group pictures in this brochure show the First Communion Classes for the years 1929 to 1953 inclusive, followed by the Graduation Classes for the years 1930 to 1953 inclusive. Tabulation of the names in relation to the pictures was not made at the time they were taken. It is regretted that, notwithstanding every effort toward individual identification, it was not accomplished in some instances, especially among the First Communicants.
